ALLARD SAYS COLORADANS WANT TAX RELIEF SAYS MESSAGE AT TOWN MEETINGS WAS PEOPLE WANT PACKAGE

Washington, D.C. – U.S. Senator Wayne Allard (R-CO) today said the message given to him loud and clear during the August recess by Coloradans from town meetings to one-on-one visits. The message was Coloradans need tax relief.

“No matter where I went in Colorado, one message was given to me loud and clear - we need tax relief,” Allard said at a morning press conference attended by U.S. Senators Kay Bailey Hutchison (R-CO) and Mike Enzi (R-WY), along with Oklahoma Representative J.C. Watts. “The small businessperson needs tax relief, young people starting families need tax relief, working middle-class Coloradans need tax relief.”

Allard said that during the August recess he conducted 16 town meetings across Colorado, held 10 roundtable meetings with different citizen’s groups, and meet with a number of business organizations including the general membership of the Colorado Association of Commerce and Industry (CACI).
